Ovčar-Kablar gorge

Ovčar-Kablar gorge is a gorge in western Serbia, part of the composite valley of the Zapadne (West) Morava river. The name of gorge is coming from the names of two mountains: Ovčar 985m high on the south and Kablar 889m high on the north of the gorge. The Ovčar-Kablar gorge is placed on the halfway between the towns of Čačak and Požega, some 160km south-west of the capital Belgrade.

Mountain Kablar 889m

On the Mountain Kablar is one via ferata.

In Ovčar-Kablar gorge is more than 20 rock climbing routes, graded from 4 to 8 UIAA scale.

Cultural and Historical Heritage

With over 300 monasteries, churches and worship places built in the gorge since the 14th century, it is known as the „Serbian Mount Athos“. Today, remained only 10 monasteries, one church and one sarced cave.
